

The VODATAKAC Function of DatakAristarchy

(Vote Only Decentralized All-Truth-All-Knowledge Authority Candidates)

This function has the role to create new populist movements to promote the formation of new democracies functioning as DatakAristarchy. Its first such movement to start with is the one called "STOP SECRECY". In order to attract as many people in general as possible to such movement of a current or an eventual DatakAristarchy, or of even any other democratic or non-democratic country, as new members of the movement, the medallion shown below, front and back (in pure copper), is given to those interested to the principles of full openness and "Decentralized-All-Truth-All-Knowledge" of this new type of improved democracy.

The STOP SECRECY movement.

All interested persons offered and willingly accepting the above medallion are expected to wear it proudly as much and as often as possible, independently of their current political affiliation, be it of the Left, of the Right or of the Center. Those seeing the medallion and who may be interested in the concepts it contains can get a copy from a holder who has one available, or request receiving a copy free of charge from the PythagorArium Academy. Old and new members of the movement are expected to also proactively lobby as often and as strongly as possible for the promoted principles (elaborated more explicitly here below). They are expected to do so in particular in front of candidates of authority to a national election in a democratic or a non-democratic country. But they are also expected to do so in front of national candidates already appointed, or hoping to be appointed, to an important corporation or organization, national or international, that may have a great influence on the country where they live.

What medallion holders want is the following:

1. No more secrecy in all public affairs. All public affairs become all fully public at all levels of the nation, even in diplomatic or foreign relations dealing with other countries or international organizations. Doing otherwise becomes a serious crime.
2. All politicians who lie about public affairs, even a simple lie by omissions, commit a serious crime for which the minimum punishment, to start with, is the immediate dismissal from the public function and from all other similar public functions in the future.
3. All lobbying can only exist openly on TV, if possible on a special lobbying TV channel for this purpose once created, always indirectly and independently from any official or candidate of authority in an election or international organization. Doing so privately or secretly otherwise becomes a serious crime.
4. All public money becomes fully public to the point of all of it being easily followed by all citizens as if the money was being handled from their own private citizen bank account. Whoever prevents a citizen to have such easy and full access commits a serious crime.
5. All secret knowledge useful to the nation or to humanity in general must be revealed, from any source, earthly or alien, even from secretive military basis or secret sanctuaries or locations of any religion. Those hiding it commit a serious crime.
6. Formation of national media networks are all prohibited, and each media must compete to provide best All-Truth-All-Knowledge by itself through only citizens buying the media, without the influence of any external financing. Not complying becomes a serious crime.
7. In order to ensure that All-Truth-All-Knowledge is well known to all, Free Speech becomes absolute, even for hate, as long as it is not expressed with physical violence, being legal even for only a conviction of something considered bad for personal reasons. Preventing the full expression of this type of full Free Speech becomes a serious crime.
8. Helping other countries is done mainly in terms of taking actions to help them inland, by providing these countries with means of All-Truth-All-Knowledge, and lead them to take such actions to avoid problems with dictatorship, multiculturalism and mass emigration.
9. The above rules apply to all national candidates who fill, or aspire to fill, a national representative function in the national quarters of any big international corporation, or to go and fill this role in the foreign management of any international organization.

With growing numbers of people wearing the above medallion as often as possible, millions of other people will soon get interested in joining the above movement, and consequently attract the formation of more new improved democracies functioning with DataKAristarchy governance.
